PROGRAM

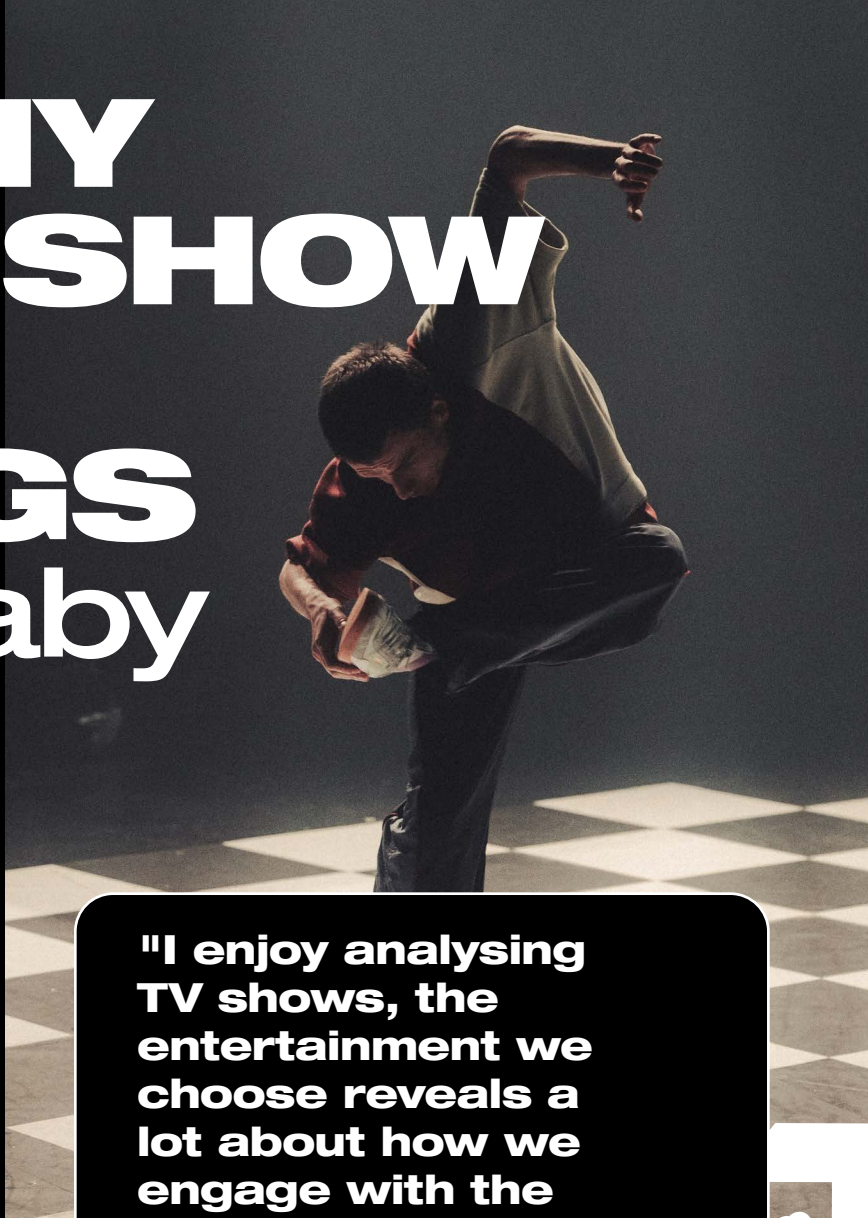

A FUNNY LITTLE SHOW ABOUT ENDINGS

By Barnaby Booth

Inspired by the happy endings in sitcoms such as Friends, Will & Grace and Seinfeld, choreographer Barnaby Booth takes 'A Funny Little Show about Endings' to create a humorous dance performance with a Lynchian twist, in which dramatic characters meet their inner motivations.

"I enjoy analysing TV shows, the entertainment we choose reveals a lot about how we engage with the world. This work was inspired by the sitcoms, animations, and dramas I turn to on bad days. I was influenced by David Lynch's way of twisting TV tropes to expose deeper darkness. When real life rarely offers happy or neat endings, how do we cope with the ones we're given?"

THE POETIC DISASTERS CLUB - The new generation of dancers

The Poetic Disasters Club is the junior company of Club Guy & Roni. It is a breeding ground for international talent; dancers, actors and musicians. There's room for all disciplines!

In this experimental garden, and during the course of one year, they can completely develop themselves. Experiment is key, with a constant focus on research and development. The Poetic Disasters Club performs in theaters and on location throughout the country and far beyond.

ABOUT BARNABY BOOTH

Booth, a gifted lighting designer in addition to choreographer, previously collaborated with Club Guy & Roni's Poetic Disasters Club for the performance 'Like a Prayer,' shown at De Parade in 2023. The production received rave reviews from NRC and de Volkskrant, among others, and was even part of De Parade's prestigious closing gala.

"Booth creates magical moments in Like a Prayer, in which he explores intergenerational traumas within families."
